

Martinez Missionary Mail (1st Quarter 2025)

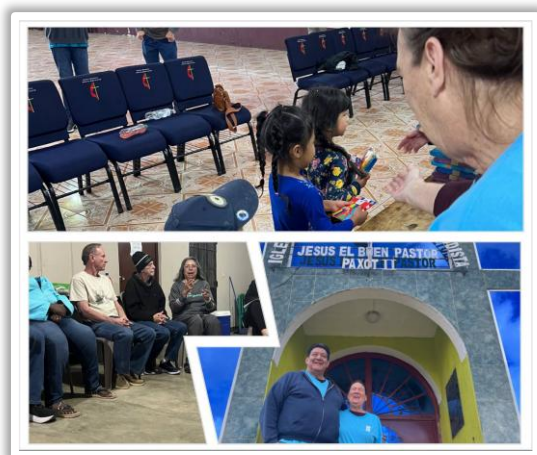

Chuck & Robin Martinez, SGSP Mission Directors- Guatemala

Collaboration is Key

On this occasion we joined with colleagues Rich & Lulu (inset lower left) who are hosting a United Methodist group as they minister in helps and outreach in the rural area of Chichicastenango.

Chuck & Robin (SGSP Aviation) often find collaborative opportunity in and around the Western Highlands of Guatemala.

Distribution of supplies to rural school children.

Intermissions Guatemala

We cannot say enough about the once-a-year Bible conference experience that took place the last weekend of February 2025.

InterMissions provided the native English-speaking Evangelical missionary community in Guatemala a unique weekend of inspiration, encouragement, and fellowship. That tradition continues as Chuck & Robin (SGSP Aviation) engaged with many of the missionaries behind the ministries that serve the people of Guatemala.

Starting the year off right! Engaging with boots-on-the-ground missionaries that serve the people of Guatemala in the stunning back drop of Lake Atitlan.

Renewed Authorization

As a certified aircraft mechanic with SGSP Aviation Ministries, the FAA authorizes me a higher authority to inspect aircraft on their behalf. It is not bestowed automatically but based on showing evidence of prescribed activities to qualify for renewal. What if, as Christians, we had to show evidence that.....ooh don't get me started!

Combining Customs!

Missionaries like us who minister cross-culturally find ourselves celebrating both U.S. and our mission country holidays. The 11th of March was Robin's birthday, which provided a unique opportunity to combine cultures by celebrating US style and Guatemalan style where we savor small events throughout the month.

Guatemala Encounters

As missionaries we meet new faces all the time. A surprise for us was encountering familiar faces from our home church, Shiloh Christian Ministries. We had a brief but sweet catch-up with Pastors from both legacy and current leadership teams, spanning our 20+ years on the mission field.

Gift of Garments

Robin's sewing classes are a favorite of supporters and participants. For several years now textiles and supplies are faithfully provided by several partners and organizations. One partner from Tulsa sees to it that each year these classes are well supplied with colorful materials that spark imagination and creativity.
